Seeking to think and speak clearly. Asha Contra Druj.

This experiment will be my new permanently pinned tweet, and the only time I'll request retweets. The concept is simple: Post anything you find especially beautiful/inspiring - images, words, video, music - as often as you wish. Lets build a long eclectic thread of good things.

I'm off to completely seclusion for a month or so.. no cell, internet, etc. Fresh air. It'll be a strange experience, for someone that's spent so many years attempting to keep a finger on the pulse of anything/everything of import.. but, it's necessary. I hope you're all well..

New video, in the style of the recent 'Call for Revolutionaries'.. A discussion of the importance of judgment, and a *conscious* manifestation of an attractive alternative to this new 'culture' seeking to destroy all opposition and monopolize the stage. <https://t.co/UaP12C6xQG>

For those interested in the real reasons much of the international establishment so despises Putin, @KeithWoodsYT gives an efficient and competent rundown of the nature of those oligarchs that so fleeced Russia at its most vulnerable. Worth a watch: <https://t.co/Gh35oTNIEP>

Marcus Aurelius wrote Meditations during a Pandemic, two front war and betrayal from his co-emperor and brother. Out of this came one of the greatest works of all time. When things go wrong you can choose to wallow in your misery or use it as fuel. There's a lesson in that.

When China speaks to America human rights violations, they speak of BLM.. when Putin does so, he speaks of Babbit, and that officer our politicians so gushed over for shooting a female unarmed veteran, without consequence. I have my issues with Putin, but this was impressive.

He doesn't have that Hillary Clinton streak, her ability to be a completely unreasonable witch to serve larger interests.. I think he crumbled in the face of an affable Putin - so obviously not the satan American paints him to be - and he'll now receive a talking to.

At his core, Biden is a weak and confused old man.. his handlers and our press (cut from the same cloth) desperately wanted him to take the most rabidly harsh stance.. but Biden discovered it's one thing to call a man a soulless killer from a distance, another to be face to face

To an almost surreal degree, the Biden administration is a national embarrassment

The FBI and CIA - while they no doubt have many respectable rank and file agents at mid/lower levels - have become two of the most criminal and corrupt organizations in the U.S., by any objective standard

Remember John Sullivan, BLM member loudly and proudly proclaiming 'we did it' as he leads protestors into the Capitol, as his 'journalist' friend nervously asks if he's recording and reminds him to delete the video? The FBI quickly released him.. while others face 10+ years.

Those that pay any modicum of attention to these issues already knew (or strongly suspected) this to be the case... to hear someone with a large television audience speak to it, however, is unprecedented. Much respect. <https://t.co/bpVwbIMKjb>

'FBI operatives were organizing the attack on the Capitol': Tucker Carlson claims the January 6 insurrection was planned by the government <https://t.co/SgTXoiAwLJ>

While the largely white middle class in this nation dies a painful death - figuratively, yet all-too-often literally - such institutions seem to not just tighten the noose, but to do so with glee. These are financial predators..

ignoble, deceitful, loathsome men.

Let's just speak the truth frankly: Companies like Blackrock and Goldman Sachs are almost exclusively Jewish, in their upmost echelons.. and yet they somehow have the nerve to wage financial warfare against companies that aren't sufficiently 'diverse' <https://t.co/VcgOKph8dD> <https://t.co/oPjhYp4hzw>

And the sad irony is this: It won't just be we who suffer for our blindness, our ignorance and naïveté, and pay the resulting high costs.. the entire world will suffer for it, should this takeover succeed.. to an extent I don't think most are capable of comprehending. (2)

Millennia of unprecedented efforts and achievements and sacrifices combined to create western nations, culture, our collective inheritance.. In the span of just a few generations, we've been manipulated into quietly handing it all over to the *worst possible stewards*.. (1)

And one more note about Ben Shapiro.. He claims to be against tribalism and identity politics, and exclusively defend 'ideas'. Isn't it strange that every idea he champions - without any exceptions, to my knowledge - helps strengthen the position of his own tribe/culture?

And of course, little Ben brazenly sides with tribe over nation.. The time is fast approaching in which we'll be forced to play the same game, if we care to continue existing. Our 'nation' is no longer a nation by any traditional definition of that word - and no longer our own. <https://t.co/xOhzqvKO6p>

And if you're mad at Blackrock and want to artificially prevent them from buying single-family homes, I'd like for you to explain to those who currently own the homes why you're taking money out of their pocket.

Blackrock, the company that absolutely dominates the Biden admin (and now, much of the world) somehow reminds me of Black Cube. They share the same ethno-cultural makeup, similar goals, tactics.. When the world fully wakes to all of this, they're going to be very, very angry. <https://t.co/tQGOhKWuM3>

Blackrock is buying up property in a risk-free environment that has been created for them by the ruling class. A protection racket for the elites in DC+Wall St. Problem is not just politicians, but a Federal Reserve enabling them w *UNLIMITED* credit. Our money is the problem.

This is significant. The same demographic that considered Russian collusion stories 'factual', a Wuhan lab virus origination as 'dangerous disinformation', and pushed countless other blatant lies, will now be granted the power to counter-signal every opposition Tweet, unopposed <https://t.co/yGudo3x8UD>

Hey there! Exciting news 🐦. Now, when you're browsing Twitter on Android, iOS, or <https://t.co/1EjTtR4BGM>, you may see Tweets with Birdwatch notes. Notes will appear in a card on the Tweet. Right now, this feature is only visible to pilot participants. <https://t.co/dyMHgawLUl>

Biden's unhinged statement today, the #FauciEmails, signs of purposefully orchestrated food shortages, the AZ audit (and new audits beginning in several other states), a new ATF appointee vowing to 'ban' the AR-15... the pace at which things are escalating is almost unbelievable and the irony: I have no doubt the average American now considers this rogue 'intelligence community' leadership a far greater threat than 'white supremacy'.

These increasingly strange green screen videos are entering new twilight-zone territory I don't think anyone thought possible... Hands down the single most insane statement ever uttered by a supposed POTUS. Ominous.. these are all attempts to set the stage <https://t.co/NqoErUS1Yz>

BIDEN: "According to the intelligence community, terrorism from white supremacy is the most lethal threat to the homeland today." <https://t.co/MmOKISuiyy>

This would be an intriguing start... If then merged with eastern WA, Montana, Wyoming, and perhaps even the Dakotas - none of which is beyond the realm of possibility longer term - it'd be a *very* intriguing concept.
<https://t.co/dfnVTMkhXg>

It's almost as if Western Civilization had some exceptional high points worthy of emulation.

As we continue the frenzied push to 'dismantle Whiteness' across all spheres, things will continue to collapse into fiery heaps of chaos, conflict, incompetence.. and we'll call it mere coincidence. and none will dare openly connect cause and effect.

This is part of a larger trend.. seeking to prevent home schooling, to allow young children to 'transition', to drastically lower 'age of consent' laws and 'destigmatize' pedophilia, to bring drag queens in to read to children.. This is mental illness.

Leftist statism in a nutshell: Luring children in with ice cream to inject a cocktail of poorly understood poisons into their bloodstream - with a large police presence at the ready in case parents attempt to protect them (no parental consent required) This makes the blood boil <https://t.co/3K12eLXhJf>

Are you seriously luring in 12 year olds to an experimental vaccine with no long term safety data using Icecream? Is that how you obtain free and informed consent? <https://t.co/Of1VDjVodC>

True justice is anything but weak, and has a hard edge.. yet moves slowly but surely, isn't impetuous or emotional, and for these reasons and others, always knows itself just-ified. Maintaining the high ground is all-important, here. (4)

but striving to be magnanimous and *just* (according to the ancient, timeless conception of this word) is the only lasting solution to this chaos, and the only solution that prevents us from becoming something lesser - something we're not - along the way. (3)

No amount of deceit, or vitriol, or video clips of violent attacks, will cause me to hate an entire group of people or cease making individual distinctions. It'd be foolish to not see patterns, group traits or tendencies, the broader picture, and think and act accordingly, (2)

A reminder to myself as much as to anyone else: As things inevitably escalate over coming months/years, it becomes all the more important to stay 'centered' - to not let yourself to be dragged into the mud, allowing the hateful or ignoble to degrade you into becoming similar (1)

Allow me to translate what this abomination is truly saying, at 2:37: 'If we can prevent those of European descent from telling/understanding their historical story, we might then strip them of power and influence within their own nations' <https://t.co/C3LEsPlsUW>

The modern trend is to build atop one another's derivative works.. until the final product - so massaged through numerous iterations by the cult of wokeness, so removed from the source - bears no resemblance to any 'root' historical account... bears no resemblance to history.

An important note for anyone interested in history: The older the historical work, the better. Reading Greeks or Romans or Goths speak to their first-hand understanding of their world is vastly superior to reading layers of derivative speculations from modern academics.

It feels ridiculous even addressing these things... and yet one can't help but feel compelled. They're literally rewriting history, *inventing* a new historical picture out of whole cloth - and a generation of children are now growing up immersed in these creative products..

Perhaps an 'expert' might enlighten me, here.. Across countless first-hand historical accounts, I've yet to find a single reference to a black population in ancient Britain. Not a single one. Even *if* the intent here is positive - does the truth not matter? Horrible. <https://t.co/CE7ZMZmgJp>

First Arizona, now Georgia.. the word is that Pennsylvania and Michigan and others will soon follow.. And these don't aim to be farcical *recounts* - these will be proper audits. This should get interesting.

As powerful priv account says, this is the real meaning of aristocracy. And why Kerensky, Tsereteli, Chekhidze, Rodzianko, Guchkov, Milyukov and so many more died as true cowards. <https://t.co/XUhBfH3Ibv>

And of course, respect to Tulsi for stating the obvious.. and in doing so, saying what every spineless GOP hack seems too terrified (or disinterested) to say <https://t.co/aHRUEq5QUI>

People accuse Tulsi of being a closet Republican, but that's absurd. No Republican politician has ever had the stones to use the words "anti white racism."

Respect to Lt. Col. Matthew Lohmeier for speaking out, knowing full well the consequences for doing so
<https://t.co/Xnl1NVui6I>

'Calling out racism' now seems to be the ideal vehicle for envious losers everywhere to find shortcuts to vengeance and self-promotion.. Malevolence.

"They're not going to stop until she dies.." This obnoxious little clown is now suggesting the royal family is on a murder spree fueled by their passionate, uncontrollable racism.. Consider me skeptical.

Five rural counties in Oregon voted this week to press forward with a plan to leave the state and merge with neighboring Idaho, the latest move in a long-shot campaign by conservatives who say they're fed up with Oregon's left-leaning politics <https://t.co/hymsXbnE1s>

The question should never be 'is it anti-semitic', (or anti-German or anti-Indian or anti-Russian) - the question should be is it *false*. Any people shielded from criticism or consequence risks eventually becoming a scourge to all mankind

We're haven't just lost connection to our Anglo-Saxon heritage as a nation - we've handed the reins of power to those who'd prevent us from even *speaking the term* Anglo-Saxon. Think about this.

The culture being exported by Hollywood and NY writers/directors/producers for example, and that of the corporate press, is an abomination.. and in no way represents the nation at large. This is an existential problem.. and I'll not stop calling it out until it ceases to be. (4)

That said, I *do* believe the forcible cultural imposition of the mindset and worldview of this minority population within the nations they reside is an issue that demands discussion.. and believe nations/cultures should have the right to chart their own natural course. (3)

I don't want to be misunderstood here - I don't feel hatred, I don't believe every Jewish individual has nefarious intent, and would absolutely never support indiscriminate violence against them.. and could see myself being vocal about this, were it to become a serious issue. (2)

Because I've kicked several hornets nests lately, and my time here may finally be drawing to an end, I'd like to clarify a few things while I still have the platform to do so. I often criticize the nature of Jewish influence, broadly speaking, in western nations. (1)

@AntisemitismCow I feel like making a little straw bed for you, my friend.. I tend to make efforts to speak honestly and frankly, so I think you may be here for awhile.

‘Anti-semitism’.. I can’t think of a single term more responsible for preventing open and honest dialogue on issues of extreme import. I don’t feel hatred toward any group of people.. at the same time, my conscience compels me to speak critically where I see glaring injustice

.. because this is not *Christ*ianity, by any traditional definition, but some strange Israelanity abomination, allowed to take root and spread due to the wholesale subversion and twisting of the doctrine across many modern churches.

In fairness, I see signs everywhere that this subset is shrinking.. and I certainly don’t believe the existence of this group justifies any hatred/animosity towards *all* Christians.

Further: If the Rothschild state of Israel officially and formally declared war on Christians, I’m convinced at least a subset of those who today call themselves Christians would support the effort. This level of indoctrination is difficult to fully comprehend. <https://t.co/JzzyNxeRp5>

Many modern academics avoid pursuing genetic testing - or objective data arising from skull shape or skeletal formation - and instead focus on things like material possessions.. easily tradable, transferable material possessions. Cultural sensitivities pollute science. (3)

The big question then becomes *why*.. when ancient peoples were so obviously viewing their world in terms of tribe and ancestry, and thinking and acting accordingly, why do we try to piece together our understanding of them according to things like pottery remains? (2)

Academias mental gymnastics to avoid considering race/lineage as a key interpretive framework in their approach to history - especially with regard to caste systems, movement/migrations - is like inventing a Rube Goldberg device to accomplish an otherwise straightforward task.

Imagine convincing a nation to adopt the act of decreasing their standards as its greatest virtue. Is there any more surefire guarantee of degenerative chaos and decline?

Tolerance is not synonymous with kindness or goodness. Inviting a pedophile into one's home may seem kind - to this one individual, perhaps down on his luck - until you consider your children. Failing to consider the *totality* of ramifications of an action is irresponsibility

An increase in tolerance is a decrease in standards.

Someone should ask Steven Spielberg what happened to Heather O'Rourke

This history is no longer told - because victors truly do write the history books - but many of us haven't forgotten, and won't ever forget.

It's difficult not to see parallels between the overwhelmingly Jewish run/funded mass-human-importation ('refugee') agencies, and the 'Reconquista' era - in which Jews in Europe provided intelligence to Muslim invaders, and even literally *opened the gates*, in many instances.

It may be uncomfortable, confusing, infuriating.. but it IS.. The act of burying our heads in the sand in this regard will have an obscenely high cost.

For those not yet aware, that feel ready and prepared to take an all-important deep dive, I strongly recommend searching 'Christopher Bollyn 9/11' at <https://t.co/XjfAgNmZrt> or bitchute (it seems YouTube has already purged his research)

"Our world is rent asunder by those same old cave-age emotions of greed, envy, lack of control, mutual hostility which have picked up in passing respectable pseudonyms like class struggle, racial conflict, struggle of the masses, trade-union disputes." #Solzhenitsyn

These were wealthy, powerful men, who could've lived the most comfortable and easy lives in exile. Instead, the Goths were stunned to find them sitting quietly at their tables in their homes - stoic, unmoving, alone - in a completely emptied ghost-town Rome. Principled courage.

There's a story about a Gothic sack of Rome, speaking to how the public was mass evacuated to safety, yet the courageous senators stayed behind - refusing to leave their posts. Our senators/ reps trembled and hid under desks and chairs. We're inferior even to late-stage Rome.

Remember the 'pipe bombs' on Jan 6th? How is it that the same politicians who cowered under chairs as unarmed protestors walked through the Capitol were then comfortable walking right back to continue with 'election' proceedings without the entire building being swept/checked?

Maricopa Arizona Audit

No chain of custody for ballots, ballot batch counts don't match with actual ballots, deleted databases, cut security seals, ongoing non-compliance with subpoenas and more... Read the letter to the Maricopa Board of Supervisors here: <https://t.co/QAXtFdQ8lf>

This means a PRIVATE COMPANY essentially shut out election officials and ran the show, across several key regions and swing states.. and is now desperately fighting transparency on every front. Much of the deleted data may be gone forever. I'd like to see those responsible hang

It's being revealed that 'Dominion' not only deleted a wealth of data prior to handing over voting machines, but they're now refusing to provide password/login information to the forensic audit in AZ. Election officials in AZ are now admitting they never even knew these logins.

White leftists vocalizing such hate for their race - though it defames their forebears, insults the dead and will cost *future* generations dearly - costs them absolutely nothing. In fact, it gains them everything. It's difficult to imagine more loathsome and selfish behavior.

this is absolutely *not* a recommendation to read Sutton (he's an incredibly dishonest man), or praise of Churchill as a person. He was intelligent, well/roundly educated, and had a firm grasp on world politics - yet this only serves to make his later decisions the more appalling

To speak on these issues without proper elaboration almost feels irresponsible.. much more to say on the topic in a video production, someday soon.

This is why those in our circles that focus solely on one half of this dynamic - completely ignoring the other - make me uneasy, and don't fully resonate with me. If nations seek freedom and self-determination and true sovereignty, both of these forces must be checked

It's never ideal to have to condense to a single tweet a topic that deserves a novel-length elaboration, but I do agree with the pre-compromised version of Churchill, here: Zionism is the lesser of two evils. Yet, with the emphasis on 'evils', not 'lesser'. <https://t.co/PZ8Q6U4Bw6>

Some interesting thoughts from Churchill (from Antony Sutton's 'Wall St. and the Bolshevik Revolution') who clearly saw Zionism as the lesser of two evils.. and - at least initially - seemed to want a world in which nations weren't infiltrated or controlled by either <https://t.co/sCNvVg55Lg>

It seems fitting, and a testament to our times, that the man hailed as a hero/messiah figure across the NPC population - up there with marvel movie heroes - is a man who's devoted much of his life to finding ways to make viruses more efficient, deadly, contagious.

In a sane world, Fauci's intimate ties to the all things related to the creation, introduction and propagation of this virus would be front page news across the world.. his connections to Wuhan, his continued GOF research despite gov't demanding it cease... <https://t.co/oQNdrzBVzQ>

A reminder... All of the external trappings of power in the world can't conceal innate weakness and malformation <https://t.co/wq7eRHMLk5>

There's something uniquely dark about the flamboyant and malevolent expressions of glee in response to the suffering and destruction of others and their holy places.. Neither side is saintly, in this brother war - but only one is exceptionally and brazenly (and *proudly*) unjust <https://t.co/Lh5wZprUDZ> and this is just one randomly chosen example.. this 'formula' is in use across the board by those seeking to manipulative, deceive. Pull back and examine objective data, and their narratives don't just evaporate, but are so often revealed to be complete *inversions* of the truth an obvious truism to most reading these words, but I think it's still important to voice. To that subset of the public not well-versed into pulling meaningful data from numbers, who feel no reason to mistrust the intentions of their press, this manipulation is brutally effective

It doesn't matter if there are 100 Black-on-Asian assaults for every one White-on-Asian assault - If the public is only exposed to a carefully chosen selection of the latter, the former essentially *does not exist* in their minds. It's insane, it's stupid.. yet, it's our reality

There's a simple formula underlying so much of the race-based manipulation of the majority of the public who don't know how to interpret data or statistics: Cherry-pick the most exceptional, powerful cases, give them an obscene amount of airtime until they appear to be the rule

A man on the Leadership board/council of Pfizer, speaks excitedly about 'picking up 5-7 million' *children* to inject.. a demographic at such low risk of death from COVID that it's nearly unmeasurable (and completely insignificant) statistically speaking <https://t.co/pcEfApqCFk>

WATCH: Former FDA commissioner @ScottGottliebMD on impacts of a Pfizer vaccine being authorized for children: "We'll pick up about 5 million immediately. I think probably another 5 million, 5-7 million would get vaccinated over the course of the summer before the school year." <https://t.co/Ua78ZQXP5b>

How long before 'breakthrough scientific studies' begin to 'prove' that children can indeed consent, and that pedophilia doesn't really cause long term harm damage to their psyche? Anyone that thinks this prospect is a stretch really isn't paying attention..

Just as a creative cherry-picked reading of the Bible can be used to 'prove' nearly any viewpoint, so goes the modern practice of science.. it's not a clinical, objective, dispassionate progress toward 'truth'. It's messy, fallible, and shifts with the prevailing winds of culture

This is such a serious issue because for so many, science is now a 'religion', in a very real way. They believe themselves to have smartly replaced silly old superstition with the hard unassailable 'facts' of 'scientific reality'. The man behind the curtain becomes their new God

And if we accept that these spheres now seem unnaturally composed of almost exclusively one *type*, does this not mean that even what we today call 'science' is being largely piloted/driven by the same hidden (monied) hands responsible for this gatekeeper-induced monopolization?

The question then becomes, is media, academia, celebrity/popular culture composed of a representative sample of ideologies, mindsets, orientations? Or does it seem as if gatekeeping methods have served to monopolize these spheres, granting undeserved influence to a small subset?

What we believe shapes our science more than our science shapes what we believe. If media, academia and celebrity/popular-culture now exercise the foremost shaping effect on our collective beliefs, this essentially means these forces are orienting our scientific 'path'.

There's a reason Kennedy had a two-pronged goal before his very public and symbolic execution: To end the federal reserve as we know it, and to fracture and splinter the CIA into a thousand pieces and scatter it to the wind. These two ideas are very much intertwined. (4)

I (sincerely) don't care if this idea is unpopular in certain circles.. these aren't circles I wish to be a part of anymore. The hour is too late, the situation too dire.. delusions are now an existential threat. The OSS/CIA is a corrupt, subversive, loathsome institution. (3) powerfully - unchecked - to the far left.. as communist/stasi elements all over the world became further empowered: the 'good guys'. *International bankers won the war*, these 'intelligence agencies' have since been their greatest weapons, and we're all now paying the price. (2)

One hopes this helps finally put the nail in the coffin of that absurd 'the Nazis didn't lose the war, and took over our CIA!' talking point. Every era is defined by a prevailing mythos, storyline.. our dominant narrative was WW2, which caused the pendulum to swing (1) <https://t.co/EW4l25oySi>

The Equestrian Statue of Marcus Aurelius is an ancient Roman equestrian statue on Capitoline Hill, Rome. The statue was erected ca. 175 AD. Its original location is debated: the Roman Forum and Piazza Colonna (where the Column of Marcus Aurelius stands) have been proposed. <https://t.co/ja2bn7Celg>

It's the most natural human instinct to seek acceptance, to belong.. insecurity sparks a willingness compromise, even lie to ourselves.. We then go on to create the most ornate intellectual justifications to collectively defend our missteps.. and the world suffers for it. (4)

I suspect those that cave to the peer pressure and give the wrong answer would have almost total Venn diagram overlap with those cheering masks, CRT, the orange-man-bad mentality, anti-Russia hysteria.. .. and this is the human type everywhere promoted, by hidden puppeteers (3)

The 'Asch conformity experiment' is a good example of this. A group of actors answer an obvious question with the same wrong answer, and the test subject must then decide whether to agree with the crowd, or trust his own eyes, ears, judgement: <https://t.co/DveUNY81dz> (2)

I'm convinced that the best predictor of which ideological faction a person is likely to belong to in coming years, as the fracture between populations continues to grow, isn't superficial political differences - but rather some objective measure of the instinct to conform.. (1)

Architects and planners, those in construction and engineering and landscaping and gardening, those capable of essentially revitalizing poor quality land.. artists of every variety.. imagine a mass-shift away from working the Amazons of the world, and into such disciplines

This line of thought has been occupying my thoughts, lately.. Living in beautiful environments - as a standard, not an exception - is *very much* a possibility, with a simple reorientation of schooling, training, and how we spend our time and energy <https://t.co/aPvzMC9IpB>

One of the oddest but most widely held beliefs among people here on Twitter is that poor people should live in ugly places, and the poorer the uglier. When I make the claim that we should build more beautiful for our poorest, I seem to be making a heretical statement. <https://t.co/bDdNpXk9UR> to the extent that some 'surprise' event occurring in the next few days - forcing a shutdown, or delay, or somehow irrevocably polluting the process - wouldn't be the least bit shocking (2)

This Arizona audit isn't an inconsequential thing.. I say this not just because of the amount of time, energy and money poured into this first comprehensive forensic audit to date, but because of the even greater amount of time/energy/money I'm seeing attempt to shut it down (1)

It's brutally obvious he doesn't really understand much of what he says, or even have his own reasons for saying it.. and I suspect there's something in this strange falseness - beyond just the words, stances - that many minds now associate with 'Presidential' characteristics (3)

I'm certainly not knocking decorum, dignity, eloquence, poise - the exact opposite. These *are* some traits a healthier nation might associate with 'Presidential' With Biden and his type, we get a simulacrum of this, at best - topped with a confused, weak, impotent falseness (2)

The descriptor 'Presidential' is a great example of a degenerated word/conception.. Decades of hollow vessels dutifully reciting platitudes has caused the NPC collective subconscious to associate this very behavior with the office itself. Biden is indeed 'Presidential'. <https://t.co/2m6YSqAZew>

It's only misunderstood as *this* in our age because our popular culture pushes men to be women, women to be men, in their ongoing war against nature itself. They can rewrite history and culture, for brief periods of time... they can't rewrite DNA. (3)

Strong men set the stage for the natural cultivation/flowering of stronger and healthier women.. but, when well-oriented, this strength doesn't manifest as a modern feminist's will-to-power, or desire for domination. True natural feminine strength isn't *this* in the least. (2)

Women are - and always have been - the greatest and more thorough *test* of men, as individuals and a collective.. the weaker and more pathetic men become, the more the 'devouring mother' archetype rises to prominence, and the more chaos is unleashed into the world.. In many ways women are right to challenge men and the patriarchy. Men need to be challenged...and strong ones will prove their worth. But today, most men are miserably falling by simply submitting and showing they're spineless cowards.

NEW - 20 retired French generals and 80 other ex-officers call for MILITARY RULE in the country if President Macron cannot halt society's "disintegration caused by Islamists" - sparking political uproar ahead of elections (Daily Mail)

A lesson in why a certain brand of 'intolerance' is healthy, necessary.. why having 'high walls' matters. Not out of hate, or spite, or from any net-negative root.. but because the alternative is always chaos and degeneration, an endless lowering of standards until we hit bottom

Man creates something new, of unique value Parasites and subversives burrow in, take over.. .. proceed to monopolize the environment, until powerful enough to expel the creator Creation is cheapened, bastardized, ruined, destroyed (repeat cycle)

*Everything* is being made political - sports, video games, all forms of entertainment - because it's an efficient means to shut out and punish those who refuse to submit to clown-ethos.. acting as manipulative incentive to any that remain on the fence.

The sheer audacity, seeking to force their views on the world simply *telling* others how to feel/be.. And the additional irony behind it all, of course, is that there's more racial animosity in the hyperbolic 'antiracist' crowd than any other

The fact that the truly creative and capable mind behind the game (@notch) has been largely sidelined and silenced, and his creation taken over by partisan hacks and cultural subversives seeking to use it for political ends, seems to epitomize the larger trends in our marketplace <https://t.co/s9u9xxYoAy> but of course, 'hope for the best' is unduly kind, here.. the real 'hope' of those most aggressively pushing this framework is additional power and profit and control - the transforming of human beings into domesticated programmable cogs in a soulless molochian economic machine..

The conceptual basis of this borderless multiculturalism and globalism: "You know those factions with completely different worldviews, philosophies, goals? Instead of allowing them to live as they choose, how about we force them all into one big room, and just hope for the best?"

JUST IN - Trump calls for the immediate deployment of state police or National Guard "to provide large-scale security" for the election audit in #Arizona, in a just-released statement.

These seeds have been deeply planted, and we're only just beginning to see their fruits. A ticking time bomb we'll now all have to find some means of dealing with. They knew what they were setting in motion.. and did so purposefully, with malice. (4)

In effect, they birthed a socially acceptable form of racial animosity, coupled with a call to action that paints those willing to take up this call as warriors for 'justice'.. hinting at something of a utopia, just over the horizon, if we can just disempower the *oppressor*. (3)

Leading to our situation in the present day, in which the white middle class, being economically decimated and dying at record rates from suicides, OD's, and stress related conditions, might be lectured on their 'privilege', by a billionaire Oprah or LeBron James. Sickness. (2)

Part of the dark magic of men like Alinsky and the Frankfurt school 'intellectuals' was their seizing upon the 'haves' and 'have-nots' dichotomy - something real - and morphing it into 'oppressor' and 'oppressed', and subsequently giving the dynamic a racial character.. (1)

There are several hundred high profile accounts across Twitter/FB that seem to post as one.. the same things, often with the same wording, at the same time.. Brings to mind the Greta Thunberg scandal, involving large accounts being compensated to act as propaganda distributors

Maybe I'm alone in this, but any time I see an argument based on what "the founders intended," my only response is "who gives a crap?"

Do those with the most power and influence over corporate and social media represent the nation as a whole? Or do they represent the bleeding-edge extreme of a faction that seems to *despise* the nation as a whole, and seek to recreate it to suit themselves and their paymasters?

If the mob controls our brand of 'democracy', and our media plays the leading role in shaping and programming the mindset and opinions of said mob, doesn't it then follow that those who control the media ultimately control the direction of our nation? Who controls our media?

'He cries out in pain as he strikes you' is a relative of 'the best defense is a good offense' and 'the squeaky wheel gets the grease'... Got exactly what you wanted? Pretend you didn't, and scream twice as loud. Brazen, disgusting, shameless, ignoble, and supremely effective all all free to create their own music in their own place (though bad players and bad direction will always yield ugly music), but this freedom doesn't extend to the infiltration and subversion of all others' (4)

Supremely arrogant lost souls inevitably attempt to call their own tune, contrary to the timeless composition and it's natural order, in some doomed bid to wrest control.. their dissonant/discordant notes ruining the harmony. Perhaps our goal is to destroy their instruments (3) of and for the beautiful, to be able to better recognize and emulate it.. but also being *play*ers, not allowing the process to become a dark, dreary, dour, overly somber chore, sapping our performance of it's life and vitality and light-ness. (2)

If we envision the creator as orchestra conductor, it becomes easier to envision our intended role as skilled players, performing our prescribed role to create and sustain the melody: Disciplined, capable, with open eyes and ears to learn from mistakes, cultivating a sense (1)

It's a mistake to think the breaking of the camels back is wholly negative.. Destruction paves the way for - is the impetus for - new creation. All that's so sick, degenerate, subverted, corrupt, should be allowed to collapse.. if not actively pushed. Something new is needed.

To state the obvious.. I think we all feel it, know it: Justice, as timelessly defined and understood, is dead.. it's been replaced with some contrived monstrosity not the least bit worthy of the title. Chaos and violence will be the eventual result, inevitably.

Keith Ellison speaks with the cocky swagger of a low-grade thug.. the antifa-championing AG seems scarcely literate, yet somehow supremely arrogant.. it's fitting he was the man behind this prosecution

A simple reminder: There are less than 20 or so unarmed black Americans killed by police each year, and statistics indicate unarmed whites are more likely to be killed in their average police interaction. ALL of this, the entire media-fueled circus, predicated on a 'big lie'.

I did this consciously because I sincerely believe giving the benefit of the doubt, as difficult as it is in this environment, is vital. If we're not able to be even-handed and just, we (rightly) cede the high-ground. Knowing all I know now - I'm disgusted at the situation. (3)

I was sympathetic, on initially seeing the optics.. even said in a video production that it *looked* like a significant injustice, for which there should be some punishment.. *knowing*, as I spoke these words, that as the facts were revealed, I may end up being off the mark.. (2)

The fact that what was once such an impressive nation, the world's foremost superpower, has it's attention riveted on this single incident and the resulting trial, speaks volumes. It's silly, stupid, tiresome, embarrassing.. a disgrace.

JUST IN - Capitol Police officer Brian Sicknick suffered 2 strokes and died of natural causes a day after the unrest at the Capitol on January 6th, the District's chief medical examiner has ruled.

If this normally hyperbolic crowd isn't in a hateful tizzy against the man, I can't imagine he's been doing his job properly

I haven't watched the vast majority of the trial, but from what I have seen, the defense has been long-winded and inefficient, ineffective, ineloquent, and incredibly weak.. I've even seen several bluecheckmark hardcore partisans saying the defense attorney 'isn't so bad'..

We all recognize we're being held hostage by a population that threatens to cause tens of millions in property damage, if not significant loss of life, if this verdict doesn't go their way.. I was struck at just how poorly the defense is performing it's job, here.. Curious.

On the upside, at least the media is finally paying attention to a fentanyl overdose

This is so obviously a fentanyl overdose death that this entire trial is an embarrassing farce.. I initially gave the Chauvin lynch mob the benefit of the doubt, before all the facts were in.. but these facts are crystal clear. When emotion trumps truth, society crumbles...

It's difficult to think of a modern public figure who has done more to prevent and squelch free speech and free expression than Susan. So, naturally - an award.

One of the tactics used to manifest this rapid cultural change has been the creation of endless 'awards', and award-bestowing organizations, allowing them to churn out their own 'credentials'. Unbelievable audacity. Currently 1 'like', 185 'dislikes'. <https://t.co/XvtfGOFxTP> <https://t.co/tsIaK5SOeu> and so much of the 'far left', Antifa as prime example, seems to be fueled almost exclusively by this internalized rage at the world, at nature herself.. and thus *completely lacks* this type of radiance, broadly speaking. It orients a psyche toward destruction.

.. and I certainly don't meant to suggest that those granted natural gifts are 'good', and those lacking them 'bad'. It's the choice/mistake to harbor internalized rage at their lack that makes a person most ugly. A technically 'flawed' person can still be genuinely radiant.

.. it's unnatural, weak, envious, angry, grasping, selfish and self-righteous, unattractive and unhealthy, often topped off with a completely undeserved arrogance and pretentiousness. Quite the 'brand' they're tasked to aggressively market to the next generation.

Merit/standards, physical fitness, attractiveness and symmetry, competition, Math and Science and fundamental education, the traditional family structure or large healthy families - all racist. What's so sick is that they don't simply want to destroy this - they want to dance on its corpse, with a mocking sneer, as they give you be middle finger as they do so.. and want to be called virtuous for it. This is a fight against mental and spiritual sickness made manifest

The smallest glimpse of what's been stolen from us, throughout most of the western world, and tossed the the dogs.. the type of unity, resonance and social cohesion every single nation deserves <https://t.co/Fo4oUIU6bY>

The amount of vitriol directed at the terms 'Anglo Saxon' and 'America first' speaks volumes.. there is now a *complete disconnect* between the founders and their core ideas and notions of our nation, and these hateful pissant upstarts seeking to engage in a hostile takeover.

If you have an issue with an Anglo-Saxon Caucus but no issue with the Congressional Black Caucus, then it is you who is the racist.

'Universally despised'.. really? When your social circle consists of those breathlessly awaiting the next marvel movie - wearing three masks, excitedly posting screenshots of their vaccine proofs - this may *seem* accurate. <https://t.co/YDwUm6YGZq>

Universally despised actor Mel Gibson said Jews control everything, universally lauded actor Gary Oldman said "He just said what we're all thinking, the poor boy"

This is ideal for the supranational power brokers that presently run the show, and see human beings as economic units, cogs in their machine, the more stripped of their identity and divested of their *roots* the better.. it's certainly not ideal for the rest of us. (2)

The type of diversity and multiculturalism being forced on the world will, inevitably, destroy all true diversity throughout the world, given enough time. No unique Japanese people/culture, no Tibet, no Sweden.. the entire world the same color, culture, mindset and worldview (1)

The Guardian used 'breached' data to dox rank-and-file police who donated $20 to the officer who was cleared of wrongdoing after shooting Jacob Blake. Twitter manually promoted the article, despite 'hacked materials' and 'personal information' policies. <https://t.co/X795TQ4Oc9>

Any misapprehension that causes us to think/live in a less natural and organic way seems insidious, to my mind.. so, I'm willing to take any slings and arrows. I'd love to see all people healthy, happy - I just don't share our (very) modern notion of how to best get there. (7)

I know this might make some people feel uncomfortable, because the word/idea association of racial consciousness with hatred or violence or 'supremacy' has been drilled into our psyche for decades - but this is a serious judgment error, based on a myth, driven by propaganda. (6)

We should be against racial *hatred*, and the instinct to not want what's best for our fellow man or to forcibly dominate and control others against their will.. these are ignoble evils. A degree of natural racial awareness/consciousness *is not*. It needs to be said. (5)

It's still not culturally 'hip' to say, yet it's the obvious truth: Culture does matter, Race does matter - just as family ties matter. We naturally resonate with that which we feel a kinship with. Aristotle speaks of 'Philia' as the ideal basis for a healthy, cohesive nation (4) <https://t.co/z6jSCxl7HJ>

When I see someone Black Brown or Asian finding reasons to embrace and be proud of who they are, of those who came before them, and wanting to see this lineage passed on, I respect this - it's the most natural and innate human instinct, one which needn't be paired with *hate* (3)

I'm certainly not in the Douglas Murray or Jordan Peterson camp that pretends race or culture doesn't matter. Of course it does, and our ridiculous notion that any embrace of these ideas will lead to genocide before dawn is incredibly wrongheaded, detached from reality. (2)

I'm sympathetic with those that see the *incredibly aggressive* push by the media/media/corporate alliance to stoke racial hatred, division, animosity, intended to incite chaos to avoid the spotlight being shown on their corruption and parasitism.. *but*, having said this, (1)

As with the vast majority of his peers (both north and south), he didn't seem to harbor racial *hatred*, but he did feel he recognized stark differences that made the two peoples essentially incompatible, and certainly gave public voice to this. Let's not rewrite history. (4)

From the same speech: "I will say then that I am not, nor ever have been in favor of bringing about in any way the social and political equality of the white and black races." He'd planned on repatriating the slaves after the war - an idea that died with the bullet of JWB. (3)

Lincoln: "There is a physical difference between the white and the black races which I believe will forever forbid the two races living together... there must be the position of superior and inferior, and I as much as any man am in favor having the superior position..." (2)

Before men like Kevin McCarthy and the NAMBLA-adjacent 'Lincoln Project' completely rewrite the history of the man, keep in mind he certainly didn't practice the racial-differences-denialism currently so trendy in our age, and would be labeled *profoundly* racist, today. (1)

He's not wrong.. It's madness, it's dangerous, and it's embarrassing

I've said it before, but it bears repeating: What we're facing is a pandemic of *cause-of-death reclassification* - intended to stoke sufficient fear and panic, resulting in ever greater powers and controls being granted to a handful of our most ambitious and amoral.

(might this true death count be too low to drive even that most impressionable subset of the population into hysterical fear/frenzy?)

Since the China virus first reared it's head, deaths from old age and seasonal flu and similar ailments have - magically - dropped like a rock.. I wonder what the 'COVID' death toll might be if one were to subtract those deaths that would otherwise fall into these categories?

Thousands of 'COVID' cases have been reported among those vaccinated.. So am I to understand vaccines *and* masks don't protect the public as initially promised, but we must comply anyway - and completely change our way of life - to defeat a virus with a 99%+ survival rate?

There would be no coming back from these changes in the highest court in the land.. The situation was already bad (as their reaction to the 2020 'election' proved), this would certainly break the justice system beyond repair.. total, irrevocable subversion.

because we *shape* ourselves, physically mentally and spiritually, this 'shape' can then be read and perceived by those paying the closest attention. Dostoevsky was a master, here - as many great writers were - and I think this was both cause and effect of his genius. (3)

it's as if an entirely new world of vital information presents itself, to those able to attain some mastery here. I've always found it incredible how infrequently these topics are discussed, analyzed.. they couldn't be more important.. (2)

Few skillsets are more conducive to clarity, understanding, an ability to make some sense of the world, than learning to analyze the multidimensional ways we communicate - beyond merely the words we choose. Watch and read faces, intonation and cadence, 'microexpressions'.. (1)

I'm no longer convinced there's any solution on the conventional economic front, or any hope in that regard (this battle seems extremely lost), but for those that DO feel there's still a chance - this window is swiftly closing, and this monopolization will be complete, very soon.

This corporate/tech/media/banking/DNC alliance, along with the child-friendly 'Lincoln Project' and so many carbon copies, will threaten and bully every major company into submission if the other side doesn't begin organizing boycott/support networks of their own. <https://t.co/KC3Po8LzeG>

Never in the nation's history has there been less 'racism' in action... never has there been a louder and more aggressive outcry about it. There's no logic to this - those still seeking any rationality here are spinning their wheels.

This isn't so much a *new* phenomenon, but it's escalating, and has never been near this extreme: Look over Twitters 'trending' topics.. now, or at any time in the coming days. Nearly every single one revolves around a singular theme. The brakes really are off, on all fronts..

The overlap between the ADL and those organizations focused on mass-importing human beings (while Americans struggle to survive and jobs are destroyed at record levels) is near total.. this is a singular culture at work, and they don't plan to stop until they've destroyed our own

I'm waiting for the first major public figure of good conscience and courage to finally stand up and demand the 'ouster' of the ADL, and all similarly vile organizations devoted to forcible culture-reshaping

A text loses so much when 'voiced' by a computer, or by an individual that doesn't understand or appreciate what they're reading. In my experience, there's a world of difference between one audiobook performance and another.. this may help mitigate the problem. (3)

I think this might accomplish several things at once.. it'd help retain works that seem to be disappearing, introduce audiences to works they'd otherwise not read, and simultaneously provide that extra dimension of capable, quality voice. (2)

I'm curious to gauge the interest in this concept.. We could make use of simple polling to determine which books are most wanted, make use of 'speakpipe' to hear example readings from those willing to help, and one by one assign a work to a narrator. Feedback is appreciated (1) <https://t.co/vjr2SxQFmn>

@wayotworld I do.. In fact, I've long thought one of the most straightforwardly helpful/useful tasks would be to collectively create a list of works we'd most like to hear, find the best narration voices of those willing to help, and slowly but surely create a 'library', accordingly.. (1)

I run into this problem constantly. A significant number of the older works I seek out are often priced at multiple hundreds of dollars.. I've seen several over $1000. This should disturb every decent person... Is this Amazon's subtle way of making inconvenient truths disappear?

I've spoken in the past about increasingly hard to find historical works being absurdly priced through the Amazon monopoly.. One might attempt to argue the printed copy is somehow extremely rare - but what's the logical argument for a $90 *kindle* version? <https://t.co/YI4HVsQXw>

Let's just state it frankly: There's now an open alliance between money, media, gov't and big tech against the majority of the population to completely control and reshape the nation.. and they've already made incredible progress toward the goal.

It'd be difficult to overstate just how much the bought-men and 'NPC' *despise* white middle-and-lower-class America, broadly speaking.. it's becoming a religious fervor. Indoctrinated, programmed, pointed towards the scapegoat their masters would love to see disappear forever..

Anyone failing to see a singular agenda at work, at this stage in the game, is seriously lost and confused. Fight their 'COVID', their racial and cultural decimation, their endless wars and rampant corruption, and fight to *remove these jackals* and bar their paths to power Foremost politicians are intertwined - as is big tech, finance, all major corporations. They quite literally meet behind closed doors, keep the minutes and proceedings of their discussions secret, and are aggressively laboring to create a framework in which their power is total.

Dispensing with the Divine leaves the darkest possible void - one that *must* be filled - and only the most brazen and ill-intentioned have the audacity to step in and fill it. Our worst and most arrogant men become our new lower-case-g 'gods', the new gravitational force. (3)

The spiritual component of this is equally straightforward, and lies at the heart of all of this: When we dethrone our timeless conception of God, we enthrone *self* in it's stead.. fallible (and ridiculous) celebrity idols and academic 'experts' become the new pretenders.. (2)

Perhaps the cleanest single-word explanation as to why things are everywhere collapsing: Inversion. Of virtues, ethics, value judgments, competence hierarchies.. of how we define the term 'nation', of what we strive for/toward.. of *truth*, of nature herself. Wholesale inversion

Fairness and justice are now directly equivalent to 'white supremacy' because a level playing field inevitably produces differences in outcome. From this point forward, racial bias/preference will be at the core of the agendas being pushed - with no checks or balances to slow it

America vs Europe, Capitalism vs Socialism, the ridiculous and contrived 'Nord' vs 'Med' squabbles.. what idiotic dividing lines, as the entire world careens towards globalist rule of monied parasites. I'm not a fan of anyone stoking these artificial flames, pushing these frames

This isn't to say it's right to forcibly impose our standards on others, but rather that their forcible imposition of their standards (and wholesale reshaping of our culture) is at *least* equally wrong, and our very modern conception of 'tolerance' is what opens this door. (2)

NEW - Russia, China need to urgently leave Western-controlled international payment systems, says Russian Foreign Minister Lavrov.

This Tweet is unavailable.

This may seem like a trivial thing, it's absolutely not.. and not merely because we have sickly storytellers shaping the minds of children and adults alike, but because having the false/contrived make up such an overwhelming % of our 'intake' has very real ramifications in itself and how could one hope to master this type of discernment, when the majority of the sensory input they're taking in involves actors and actresses, writers and directors.. whose very role is to convincingly mimic genuineness and sincerity, and thus blur that line?

One of the most disturbing trends I've noticed accelerating over recent years is a *profound* decrease in our ability to discern real from fake, or truthful from deceptive.. I'm not referring to the words being said, but rather intonation, body language, 'micro-expressions'...

Movies and television programming require a suspension of judgment to be enjoyed - we immerse and lose ourselves in the unfolding story. Because our habits so shape us, is this process not *training* the mind to suspend judgment and independent thinking, and embrace stagecraft?

This is an excellent listen, for those interested in Japanese history and culture, and more specifically that of Bushido and the Samurai (Bushi) <https://t.co/3q14FoZvtL>

No worthwhile individual ever allows himself to be defined by the (indoctrinated) mob.. still less so in an especially sick and confused world. Only you know your heart. <https://t.co/FS1Lrd4OtS>

General rule: people don't get to decide whether they are racist; other people decide this based on their actions essentially doesn't exist, yet there are endless examples of the former. With regard to culture and race, I see these divide and conquer tactics most clearly manifesting intra-racially, not inter-racially - divisions caused WITHIN groups, with the goal of raising a dutiful army

.. and to clarify a bit to be sure I'm not misunderstood here, I don't fully agree with those who claim races are being pitted against one another, with racial minorities taught to hate whites, and whites taught to hate racial minorities.. this latter type of indoctrination

'Divide and conquer' has become so overly used as to become cliché, and lose much of its informative power, but it really does lie at the core: If any single group/ideology is able to splinter all other groups on the playing field, they win the day. It really is that simple.

Recognize that the monied powers have created a scapegoat, to ensure they're never the target, and that their last serious foe is finally dealt with.. and consider what happens if their ploy succeeds.

We're in for extremely challenging months/years ahead - our highest responsibility, as individuals, is to remain steadfast, courageous, true to our highest principles - to be watchful, 'wise as serpents' - to learn to wrestle with monsters without becoming monsters ourselves. (5)

Technology has provided this small handful with bullhorns, megaphones, more centralized data on every man woman and child than has ever existed in recorded history - these tools are all used, simultaneously, to push this dethronement of one force, the crowning of another. (4)

The difficulty is that a significant percentage of this indoctrinated army are not 'evil', but rather being taken advantage of, in the manner of useful idiots.. like troops fighting for a corrupt and deceitful general, whose true intentions they don't understand. (3)

It's not just the race they want dead and gone forever, but it's history, culture, belief structures - it's very *nature*. This is happening across all western nations, and might be thought of as 'colonialism' of int'l finance, with minority groups used as foot soldiers. (2)

Obsession with 'racism' represents the fruits of a new quasi-religion, developed by/for the Godless. It's tenets allow only positive things to be said about certain races, only negative things to be said of another, and the end goal is total inversion of the power structure. (1)

These headlines about overwhelmed funeral homes might be the lowest of the low, with regard to China virus propaganda.. A simple reminder: The overall death toll compared to previous years hasn't so much as budged - not in the slightest - during this 'pandemic'.

Being overly sensitive and defensive - especially when coupled with an overbearing arrogance and a lack of introspection - has become something of a superpower on the far left. Professional victims, wielding this perceived victimhood as weapon to bludgeon scapegoats

In healthier eras, we'd cite an individual's successes, accomplishments, achievements and merits, as reasons they should hold additional power or influence.. today, we cite their perceived oppression, their position on the oppression totem pole - we incentivize playing the victim

This concept of the self being the end-all be-all, as if each man is an island, is so off the mark.. there's so much to be gained from a truly healthy, cohesive, well-oriented and mutually resonant larger 'family', working together towards similar ends and goals.

You're not wrong here.. to 'clean your room' is immensely important, a starting point. It falls short, in my opinion, when we believe it's also an *end*.. family, community, nation - these are intended to be important things, in which we play our ideal role for the greater good <https://t.co/dCR2NtVwov>

Interesting thread. Though this begs the question, then what should one do? I'm aware of both sides of this argument. I just always saw the self-responsibility thing to be the only way to at least do SOMETHING. If you can't stop the collapse, at least build yourself. <https://t.co/XCRBKqeInk>

Taking personal responsibility, even going overboard in doing so, is a healthy thing, and helps cultivate a unique strength and robustness over time.. becoming atomized pack-mules devoting time and energy shouldering the burden of a dying world is certainly *not* a healthy thing

Playing self-interested economic or 'self-improvement' games while your nation implodes and your people/culture are being decimated before your eyes seems the height of insanity, to my mind.. and as much as I've wanted to like Jordan, this thought path makes me angry. (4) and the triumph of those actively working together towards common goals. It's suicidal.. and the fact that it's so obviously and transparently so makes it incredibly difficult to trust any of these men or their intentions. (3)

this brings to mind 'It is no measure of health to be well adjusted to a profoundly sick society.' They go on to champion individualism, at a moment in history in which an embrace of this ideology *guarantees* the destruction of the people/culture/nation that adopts it, (2)

Jordan Peterson, and the self-titled 'intellectual dark web' seems to encourage a generation of young men to find ways to 'succeed' in a developing framework/structure that many believe is now hopelessly sick, corrupt, and swiftly failing.. (1)

Ultimately, though it may get extremely messy in coming years, though their monopolization of social media may make it appear otherwise, they don't win this war.. and the absurd pace of acceleration on all fronts seems to hint at knowledge of this, and a very real desperation (4)

They really are endeavoring to create a completely new nation.. and if you're of the genetic or cultural or ideological lineage of those who built this country, your children have no place in this new world, and will be framed as dangerous threats until wholly disempowered. (3)

This alliance of media, finance, academia fears nothing more than the spirit epitomized by this nation's founders, and see it as the last serious obstacle to complete control. *This* is why their target is on the back of the largely white right-leaning middle-class. (2)

After years of poking the 'far-right' bear with a stick, attempting to goad it into reactions that might be used as pretext to further purge/monopolize all sectors of power and influence, the bear instead refused to swipe.. and yet they're attempting to proceed anyway. (1)

The GOP, even if someday stripped of its worst elements, is still a foul beast.. that said: The international-finance/rootless-cosmopolitan and CCP alliance has no greater friend than Biden and the modern DNC. South Africa is their model, the white middle class their target.

I certainly still have mixed feelings about the *abysmal failure* to be completely ready for the inevitable election fraud in November, coupled with all of my other reservations about the man.. but he performed well tonight.

As the financial elite develops ever more effective ways to drain and utterly destroy the middle class, they import and cultivate (indoctrinate) an army, to be stoked to violence the moment they're needed - as these instigators quietly slip out the back door. Not this time..

I'm curious as to how Israelis might feel about an influx of millions of individuals from western nations who then setup NGO's to usher in millions of refugees - then develop something like 'critical race theory' to stoke hatred, framing Israelis as unjust, bloodthirsty monsters

When an ethno-religious subset is at the forefront well financed movements to throw open the borders of every western nation and disempower their native populations, and yet practice the exact opposite policies in the nation *they* call home - many people get justifiably upset. <https://t.co/ISLe1L2woe>

There's a reason usury was singled out as one of the greatest and most dangerous sins throughout all of human history, and we've *completely* lost sight of the 'why' behind this. By design.

Decades (centuries, generations) of exactly this inevitably leads to a game rigged beyond our wildest imagination: The triumph of parasitism. (4)

Adding details and complexity allows this language to *evolve*, adapt - always to the benefit of this subset creating the complexity - and grants enormous power to those who position themselves as *interpreters* of this complexity, of this world of finance, of this language. (3)

The world of finance has become like a set of games with rulebooks so purposefully labyrinthian and Byzantine in complexity that even if those on the outside had full access, they'd likely not understand them. The devil is in the details - the devil thrives on 'details'. (2)

The reason our 'markets' *have* become equivalent to a casino, in which a small handful representing the 'house' never truly lose, is because together they've invented (mastered, monopolized) a new *language* - in the broadest sense of this word, beyond the merely linguistic. (1)

What happens when the public begins to fully realize our political + economic structures have been painstakingly constructed to benefit a small handful of our worst? A fragile (artificial, unnatural) house of cards, designed by parasitic mentalities, for parasitic mentalities?

trading has been halted, Robinhood is down, and wall street is in full blown panic mode all from a subreddit, shitposters, gamers, and degenerates from all corners of the internet. it's beautiful

I hear he's been slowly but surely encouraging his audience to workout, read, study philosophy and stoicism, etc.. it's no wonder he's become such a target.

Pewdiepie = peak-Swedish, confirmed. It's just nice to see a simple DNA test reveal that isn't coupled with self-loathing or virtue-signaling sermonizing, from one of the most influential personalities in the world.
<https://t.co/I9vtSRHflh>

The answer: (spoiler alert) *very*

How amusing would it be if Reddit or 4chan realized the power of collective action in the markets, discovering means of making windfall profits jumping in/out of investments en masse.. sparking a trend causing our speculation-based house-of-cards stock market to collapse in chaos <https://t.co/qKAjXXLTWo>

The idea that seeking some cohesiveness and brotherhood and common ground inevitably leads to genocide and mass murder is just offensively stupid. History proves that mass murder tends to happen precisely when this instinct is lacking, or allowed to be undermined/destroyed.

As much as I disagree with the man, and as much as I consider his philosophy extremely dangerous and wrongheaded, it's good to see him a bit healthier.. and I wish him a complete recovery.

If you're looking for an intelligent, erudite, eloquent exposition - of a dying (because ultimately suicidal) philosophy - nobody does it better than Jordan Peterson and Douglas Murray. 'Be atomized, while all others unify against you.. it's how you win!' <https://t.co/Y8oWg12cIC>

I have my disagreements with the man, but there's no denying he's one of the very few left in D.C. with any principled courage in the face of bi-partisan unity to destroy Trump supporters and the challenge to status-quo DC they so clearly represent. The Paul's are a unique breed <https://t.co/NJM3S4s29h>

Sen. Rand Paul: "No Democrat will honestly ask whether Bernie Sanders incited the shooter that nearly killed Steve Scalise." "No Democrat will ask whether Maxine Waters incited violence when she literally told her supporters" to confront Trump officials in public. <https://t.co/ytDKsscxgh>

And the parents that enthusiastically engage in this behavior to appear virtuous to peers truly don't deserve to be parents.. they're weak, irresponsible, aggressively ignorant and negligent - and should be ashamed.

Enforced demoralization, teaching a child to hate himself and his roots and culture and ancestors and history, is profoundly damaging.. Every other group inspires and uplifts their children, fills them with hope and potential and positive energy.. we *drain* our own. It's abuse.

The fact that this half-gone man can't even read a full sentence of his scripts without a serious blunder is all part of the ongoing humiliation ritual... it's not enough just to seize power, they need to make a mockery of the institution

Mark me down as an ideological opponent of Zionism, Bolshevism, the CCP - any and every force on the world stage that seeks to gain control or forcibly impose their will and worldview. Mark me down as someone who has difficulty trusting those who focus solely on one of the three.

leaves Bolshevism and 'rootless-cosmopolitan' globalists completely - suspiciously - untouched, unaddressed.. to such an extent that I've often wondered about the motive and intent, here. Many of these dissidents even deny the Holodomor. I disagree with this framework. (3)

I care about the plight of the Palestinians and the brazen/criminal overreach of that tiny state in the middle east.. I care even more about the financial and cultural subversion and monopolization taking place in our own nations. Pointing the finger exclusively at Zionism (2)

Certain dissident thought circles that seem to think the vastly disproportionate power held by Jewish individuals and institutions across the western world is an exclusively 'Zionist' machination. I couldn't disagree more, and think this mindset is an extremely dangerous one. (1) <https://t.co/oBoaNVXszo>

Those who've taken over companies like Disney and Ford did so with malicious glee.. if either man was alive today to see the *type* at the helm of the institutions they created, the type they took such pains to warn the world about, they'd be equal parts furious and disgusted.

Extremely helpful and important context, this. It might also be helpful to recognize that it wasn't just a *political* ideology that so swiftly rose to ascendancy, but a culture, ethnicity, and a corresponding philosophy and worldview. <https://t.co/pytTFnG9T4>

I don't know who needs to hear this but in 1947 Walt Disney went to Washington DC to testify that Communists were taking over Hollywood

Will this feature be used more often to stamp out political and ideological opposition and further solidify a comfortable echo chamber - or to address comments like 'whales aren't real'? It's anyone's guess, really.. but I have a hunch. <https://t.co/nLT84szEyQ>

Many of the greatest and most broadly capable minds in human history echoed Socrates' quip - the more he learned, the more he realized we know next to nothing.. .. the modern atheist tends to puff his chest out and proudly proclaim we know virtually everything. Dunning-Kruger?

We like to think science shapes our current modes of thinking, we rarely consider how much our current modes of thinking shape our science

It'd be difficult to exaggerate just how subjective, small, stupid and silly 'science' has become, with this prevailing culture of Judeo-Atheism so firmly at the helm. Science is a false god.. and it's unquestioning adherents have become the most dangerous false prophets <https://t.co/jELio5YOFa>

I've been quiet about recent happenings in attempt to take it all in and get as firm a handle as I'm able.. but have quite a bit to say, and far more than I'm able to fit in short-form messages like these.. Podcast or video coming, very shortly

It's strangely appropriate that purple was chosen for this new color revolution - signifying an attempt to usher in a new era - representing a marriage of Soros-esque int'l finance and Chinese geopolitical interests. Red + Blue = Uniparty Purple.. We'll see how long it lasts. <https://t.co/B46JaTS67b>

Canadians need to understand who the Bronfmans are and their involvement in Canadian politics. The Bronfman family are among the overlords of organized crime and have strong ties with organized sex trafficking. - NXIVM - Jeffrey Epstein & Ghislaine Maxwell <https://t.co/GIykovLNGz>

If you're not already there, I encourage all to consider getting on Gab.. embracing it, using it to seek allies and common ground. If the other side were to ever definitively win this battle to *completely* monopolize all information streams, we'd pay an extremely high price.. <https://t.co/91hG7tsW5F>

In other words, it's my contention that this 'stage 3' was the goal all along, and the first two stages existed simply to get the ball rolling and gain inertia - to lure a sufficient number into adopting the thought framework before stepping on the gas pedal. (3)

CIA Director Gina Haspel has left the CIA just a few days after a letter from @DNI_Ratcliffe to Congress was made public that stated "CIA management" covered up Chinese interference in the 2020 election. <https://t.co/61N3VorRVX>

The #CIA workforce thanks Director Haspel for her 36 years of dedicated service to the American people. You have broken barriers and empowered the next generation of CIA officers. <https://t.co/ELzP8XzIKt>

Consider the possibility that the architects of this broader philosophy, men like Saul Alinsky, didn't craft this ideological weapon to *help* anyone - but rather to destroy a population they consider the greatest threat to their long term goals. (2)

How leftist ideology seamlessly morphed into a vehicle for racial/cultural destruction: Stage 1 - 'anything that helps racial minorities is good' Stage 2 - 'anything that helps minorities and hurts white people is good' Stage 3 - 'anything that hurts white people is good' (1)

Hope I'm wrong but a few indicators pointing toward significant declassification for political purposes in next three days. We shouldn't underestimate the damage Trump can do to national security in remaining time left. He should have been removed from office or forced to resign.

The key difference in how many use the term 'black pill': Things are very, very bad Things are very, very bad, and will remain so, regardless of our collective efforts A recognition of the former is necessary, even helpful.. the latter is absolute poison, brutally dishonest

This is, quite simply, a fact.. as uncomfortable as it might still be for so many to hear. Resist the knee-jerk reaction we're programmed to have as a Pavlovian response to any critical word of a certain group. Look closely, carefully, objectively. <https://t.co/GaKywqAmWZ>

There was no nationalist insurrection; a small group was allowed into the Capitol by police because it was their right to observe the certification vote. The insurrection and coup happened after, is being carried out by USA Security State. Those who lie about this are party to it

There's something especially off-putting about aggressive incompetence when paired with unthinking submission and the enthusiastic embrace of a slavish domestication.. I don't blame the children. The parents and teachers.. shouldn't be parents and teachers. <https://t.co/jr7BSOelUm>

If I were 'on the fence' ideologically freshly waking up to our predicament, the who/how/why behind it all, subsequently stumbling on a red-faced drunken rant from Alex Jones or a Baked Alaska livestream - I'd have to fight the urge to run the other direction and never look back.

The vast majority rejected him completely, considered him a joke, at best.. To the others - please stop treating this like a game, like some WWE theater. There's too much at stake. Don't assist the ideological opposition in their attempts to create a foul caricature. (5)

This may be an unpopular view in certain circles - I really don't care. The amount of damage controlled-opposition cutouts like BA do, broadly speaking and all things considered, is IMMENSE.. and far worse than anything someone wearing an opposing uniform might accomplish. (4)

Not only do I not trust (or like) BA, but for years I suspected he was being cultivated into playing this exact role: trending on Twitter, making national news, a foremost image to be associated with dissident rightists in the mind of the 'NPC', to spook all decent people.. (3) and don't seem to much *care*. It's the same feeling I get from Sean Hannity - as if a person had been handed a script, or a few general talking points, and proceeds to lifelessly parrot them, 'phoning it in'... hollow, superficial, impotent and confused barks with no bite.. (2)

The tie that binds figures like 'Baked Alaska' that appear out of nowhere (with a team of 'handlers') and so quickly gain such a wide following, is that they seem to know absolutely nothing about the ideological or philosophical principles they're fighting for, or against... (1)

So is it true that John Sullivan was released without charges, despite video evidence that proves he was inciting a riot, breached the Capitol + additional messages which show that his plan was to infiltrate the rally? He must have friends in high places. I wonder how high? 🤔 <https://t.co/VJ1RMf4AgD> very big wheels are moving... so much so that commenting on any individual happening feels like a disservice to the complete picture (so I've decided to talk about sea shanties and stereotypes) imagine the level of *programming* skilled practitioners might achieve with a captive audience, sheltered from the mediating force of actual reality.. with only screens to inform their sense of culture, norms. Curious as to how all things lockdown seem to benefit a small subset.

... in any other era or set of conditions, we'd be exposed to sufficient inputs through standard socialization and interactions with the public at large to help counter this false reality. In the age of lockdowns, many now receive nearly *all* of their inputs from these sources..

it's almost as if the entire structure had been cultivated and shaped for the purposes of deception, manipulation, confusion, control. 'Disbelieve your lying eyes and ears', says our television programming.. This inversion is a prerequisite, for darkness to masquerade as light

A telling truth I rarely hear voiced directly.. Have you noticed that the stereotypes pushed almost universally across all forms of corporate media are the exact *inverse* of stereotypes most of the world intuitively felt were true just a few decades ago? A complete inversion..

They've been planting these seeds for several years now. The indoctrination is now *deeply rooted*, the growing weeds representing the final act coming to fruition. They're throwing down a gauntlet, issuing the final ultimatum: 'We're the only game in town, or it's war.' (2)

They didn't just design a new political philosophy, they created an ultra efficient power-acquisition *tool*.. a philosophical framework causing it's adherents to view their opponents as hateful, dangerous, 'terrorists'.. to everywhere bar their ascendancy, to monopolize. (1)

These are obvious questions many have asked for years.. but they bear repeating.. .. over and over and over again. In times of extreme censorship, we all need frequent reminders of simple truths.

Money controls the world - who controls money? What are the ethno-cultural ties-that-bind the wealthiest individuals and institutions in our world? Why aren't the most prominent banking families listed atop Forbes 'richest' lists?

Facebook now considers advocating for liberty to be sedition. Where will it end? <https://t.co/Ws6pBq923N>

They seek, as hypocrites across the divide might say, to 'unperson' you, if you fail to fall in line. The upside is that this is forcing even fence-sitters to recognize the plight, and finally begin to seek viable ways to fight. The downside is that cowardice is endemic..

The new goal of this sprawling control edifice is to find any and every available means to neuter the 'populist' energy POTUS (consciously or unconsciously) kicked off... to disarm them - philosophically and ideologically and culturally and politically.. and eventually, literally

I intended to say '*if* freed'.. an important distinction

The 'right', freed from the establishment element represented by men like McCain, Romney, Graham, the economy-first grifter elements like 'Turning Point', has immense potential, inertia, energy.. we have the power to help direct the flow of this energy, if we care to exercise

Pay attention to 'dissidents' still championing the media-stoked 'pandemic' hype - the masks, lockdowns, the dizzying pace of our loss of freedoms and technocratic overreach.. those that, even still, refuse to admit something bigger is happening here. Judgment errors, or..? (4)

I don't respect this impulse. Those who still fail to recognize that significant conspiracy is at play, and something is very amiss - after all we've just been through - have adopted an extremely dangerous reality-interpretation framework, at a key moment in time. (3)

The media teaches us that conspiracies simply don't happen, except sporadically and on inconsequential scale.. and have a shaming-bludgeon readymade for any who might disagree. The path of least resistance is, always, to go along with this notion.. (2)

Just as it's dangerous and counterproductive (and draining) to embrace every wild conspiracy theory one comes across, it's even more dangerous to pretend individuals, groups and institutions don't covertly work together behind the scenes to secure additional power. (1) as Pence cheers the role of his private security service that shot an unarmed veteran - completely without warning - and allowed her to bleed out on the Capitol floor. I don't use the word often, but these people are truly - objectively - evil. (5) that passively watched the left kill police, occupy federal buildings, cause billions in property damage and even *physically take control and occupy* regions of major U.S. cities, now vows to spend as much time and money as it takes to track down every last patriot involved, (4)

using this word 'insurrection', it sets the stage to brand virtually all Trump supporters as potential terrorists, granting immense power and freedom of action to those seeking to eliminate the last major hurdle barring total power in this nation. The same FBI leadership (3)

yes quite possibly stoked by dishonest actors seeded in their ranks to orchestrate the optics being so efficiently made use of today - culminated in their occupying a Capitol, in a manner similar to several leftist protests in recent years. If they're able to get away with (2) <https://t.co/dyHn5VNEI9>

Notice the frequent use of 'insurrection' today, to describe the peaceful civil disobedience engaged in yesterday, which amazingly resulted in only a few small scuffles - a complete contrast to so many BLM/Antifa events in recent years. The patriots enthusiasm - (1) <https://t.co/bDXiXdBdOl>

All signs point to yesterday being a prearranged trigger, for so many in the media/corporate/political axis of power, to plunge their daggers into POTUS' back. What's especially interesting.. Several television networks seem to have had Capitol-protest content ready and waiting

The 'GOP' seems the foremost example of meta-level 'controlled opposition' - as men like Romney, Graham, Pence and so many others clearly prove - intended to play the role of the Washington Generals, to the DNC Harlem Globetrotters. A nation governed by blackmailed degenerates.

Observing the other side celebrating the death of this unarmed woman says everything about why we can't continue to live together peacefully. Rest In Peace, Ashli Babbitt <https://t.co/FsocaaiU3r>

So much occurring right now feels like planned, coordinated, well orchestrated stagecraft..

All major social media platforms currently have our President muted/banned, and acted simultaneously... think about that.

The only death today was an unarmed twenty something veteran, with children at home, whom a police officer decided to shoot in the neck. Not a single police officer died, not a single structure was burned or destroyed. Blood is boiling, across this nation. (2)

Watching the media and congress - the two least trusted institutions in the nation - join hand in hand to lecture Americans tonight, is a new disgusting low. Not a word from these frauds when violence from the other side cost several lives and billions in property damage. (1)

No justification for black-pilled nonsense. Even in the worst case scenario, and Trump has no further gameplan (unlikely): This is far bigger than POTUS, or one election. The energy is there, and ever-increasing.. it need only be understood, harnessed, oriented, directed.

So the stage is set.. either Trump acts, swiftly and definitively, or our nation officially becomes a failed experiment.

Twitter has now locked out an American President, to prevent him from communicating with his citizenry...

Kevin McCarthy on Fox, now slipping the dagger in POTUS' back at the key moment... So much stagecraft, and so much of it seems (at least broadly) planned. Nearly every individual around Trump seems to have been just waiting - since his election - for this moment, at long last.

The media is demanding we not ask questions and simply accept the obvious fraud that a significant majority now *know* occurred - and essentially give up our nation, accordingly. I don't think this will be happening, this time..

In the multitude of happenings that have occurred and will occur, don't lose sight of one very simple truth: A nation that doesn't have transparently free and fair and trusted elections is a farce of a nation, on it's last legs. We either face the issue head on, or cease to be.

CNN just claimed (confirmed?) the President wasn't involved in the decision to bring in the National Guard. Pence, Pelosi, and the usual players, were the instigating force.

Vigilance is so important. That said, not a *single* police, military or national guard death, as it stands.

As I've tried to mention so often recently - The problem faced any time we attempt to organize or act in a disciplined (ideally wholly peaceful) way is infiltration by bad actors. There is quite literally no more efficient or effective use of Soros funds.

As the other side has so long known, 'normalization' is the key to all major cultural shift: When something happens once, from then on we all intuitively recognize it as viable possibility. Today, Americans discovered they were able to physically occupy their Capitol.

A simple, telling question, and one that even a child could answer: Which side of this ideological battle would our founding fathers have been on?

Those treasonous forces - those that quite literally attempted a coup via the attempted theft of the highest office in the land - are now being shown clearly that the public can only be pushed so far.

The people now control the capitol

Maintain the moral and ethical high ground.. No vandalism or wanton destruction, no violence against innocents, no unjust actions, but NO BACKING DOWN.

Anyone that claims Trump is the sole instigator of what's currently occurring needs to be called out.. Trump merely pulled back the veil. This is bigger than him. Patriots seeking to prevent the theft of a U.S. election aren't criminals - those who attempted to steal it are.

BREAKING: patriots have stormed the Capitol building ground and are breaching federal barriers and police in the masses. No cell service but video coming. Non lethal force in effect. Full unlawful assembly in display. Never seen anything like this. Insane. Thousands occupying

Every honest person knows the truth, at this point: Elections aren't *this* because certain parties don't want them to be, and benefit from their not being.

Imagine attempting to argue, with a straight face, that in 2020 - with the multitude of technological advances and historical precedent to draw from - the most powerful nation in the world is incapable of holding elections that are 100% transparent, secure, fraud/corruption-proof

.. and of course, keep in mind you're in enemy territory (what do London, Vatican City, and D.C. have in common?) in which the mayor herself vandalized city streets with the slogans of an aggressively hateful Marxist organization fueled by Soros money. Reclaim those streets.

Energetic strength harnessed by self-discipline coupled with vigilance, seems the ideal. Traps will be laid, it's vital we don't walk into them. That said.. I expect the mood will be more triumphant than confrontational - don't forget to enjoy that resulting positive energy. (6)

(body cams and live streams strongly encouraged - one can't prevent false flags, but they can catch them in the act) This isn't to say all violence falls into those categories - it's encouragement to give some concerted thought to the difference. (5)

Controlled opposition (even 'single use' figures) could be more efficiently and effectively used tomorrow than at any point in recent memory.. whether it be to derail the energy, demoralize, create abysmal 'optics' or spark unhelpful or unjustified violence. (4)

The message needs to be sent to criminally corrupt DC, and the hidden hands and paymasters they work for, not their street level army of abominations. Lastly, the biggest threat likely won't come from the other side.. paranoia is a net-negative - heightened awareness isn't: (3) magnanimous where possible, though not overly tolerant.. Remember that most of the hired hands in black bloc represent errand boys and low level thugs, not the *root* of problems, and the fight with them (while absolutely necessary, when self-defense) is largely distraction. (2)

To those attending DC events tomorrow: Please focus on carrying yourself with some dignity and gravitas, and avoid that aggressively petty/petulant behavior so common to the other side of the fence. Strong and unyielding, not overbearing or whining.. purposeful, vigilant.. (1)

If you can show on the 6th, please consider doing so. I do think it'll be significant, likely explosive.. and much will hinge on how it plays out. Muriel Bowser, the borderline-criminal mayor, is doing everything in her power to make life difficult for those arriving. Prepare.

The full call between Trump and Raffensperger, in which he lays out overwhelming and definitive proofs of fraud - which media and social media is condensing to 'fellas, I need 11k more votes'.. A lifetime in prison is too good for this worm of a man. <https://t.co/QG6MqLElmH>

A final note of optimism, for what it’s worth - It helps to keep a focus on the bigger, broader picture.. and bear in mind that the complete collapse of a hopelessly broken system isn’t necessarily a net-negative, as much as it might seem otherwise while in the midst of it.

The question of who will reside in the WH come late January - I’m still far from convinced in either direction... yet the statement stands, regardless. I’ll probably cease posting for a bit, with the possible exception of my pinned thread, to avoid going too far.

This nation has never been closer to an outbreak of mass violence.. certainly not in my lifetime. Sincerely, I wish I could say I strongly opposed this possibility..

Rush Limbaugh: "There cannot be a peaceful coexistence" between liberals and conservatives: "I actually think that we're trending toward secession" <https://t.co/Ui18peIFSA>

Imagine the responsibility involved in knowing that your actions reflect equally on all that came before, all that may come after.. might this be an impetus to be a better person? The cultural shift towards the atomization of mankind has been devastating, on so many fronts. (4)

Which of these two cultural modes of being is healthier, which more likely to lead to a fundamental improvement and refinement of mankind across the generations? Which have we drifting away from, and which are we drifting toward, at present? (3)

This acted as powerful incentive to fundamentally improve, to act justly, honorably - for the sake of their posterity and ancestors and family, as much as their own. Contrast this with ancient Babylon, in which mates might simply be purchased outright by the highest bidder. (2)

Marriage customs were important to the ancestors of western man, and prospective partners tended to be valued on the basis of uprightness of character, courage, perceived nobility of soul/nature, meaningful accomplishment.. not just of the individual, but his family, lineage. (1)

.. nobody can justly be blamed for how they were born, so this isn't so much about innate characteristics. The problem exists with an entire cultural subset that simply decided to devalue the ethos of healthy masculinity, and then embraced it's opposite

And this certainly isn't meant as a simplistic 'might = right' argument, in which 'might' represents mere physical strength, or any single measure like I.Q. Any reasonable definition of merit should be much more all-encompassing, multifaceted. Today's 'triumphant beta' isn't it.

It really is a universal truth, stretching across the natural world: When an organic hierarchy isn't allowed to develop, the entire group ultimately suffers for it. Who can look (objectively) at our world and pretend we haven't everywhere artificially tilted playing fields?

And not just 'beta males' but 'beta humanity'. Over recent decades, a new culture has essentially devised a framework to both seize and retain power - power nature didn't intend them to have. It's a shift that poses an existential threat dwarfing 'COVID' or 'climate change' <https://t.co/5qPvFQsSRw>

Discipline, honor, loyalty, heroism, a sense of duty.. these aren't attributes shared equally across both sides of this divide.

if it comes, when it comes, only one side will come to embrace it, even *enjoy it*.. This alone should give the other side pause.

seeing Clooney trending inspired the initial thought. It makes perfect sense that actors/actresses are so oft used to market ideas, agendas. Actors are tasked to *play a role*, convincing a viewer to buy into an illusion. Politicians are now actors, serving hidden directors. (6) helped usher in generations of bought-men and errand-boys, dutifully serving hidden hands contrary to public wishes.. a poisonous ideological time-bomb that's nearly destroyed this nation. (5) or correctness of an individual person or idea meant little, it only mattered that they *appeared* to be so. This broader philosophy of Alinsky and men of a similar type and caliber, stemming from a deep sickness of soul, (4) employed since publication taught his acolytes to get all they could, when and where they could, by hook or by crook.. and that some vaguely positive-sounding ends justified the means. He recognized that to succeed, in a technical sense, the fundamental healthy orientation (3) power struggle, in the manner of an alien people or culture seeking to subvert an enemy population. Devoid of any strong love for nation, or culture, or a belief in God - or any fundamental reason or desire to *better* the world - his 'rules for radicals' playbook so heavily (2)

The ascendancy of men like Saul Alinsky as foundational political philosophers marked the beginning of the end of all hopes of truthfulness or decency in politics because his particular brand of shrewd intelligence chose to frame all politics as a by-any-means-necessary (1)

I should add: pro-Islam, pro-lockdown, seemingly oblivious to the unprecedented dangers of mass vaccination.. many of whom deny the Holodomor, and believe a state created in 1948 by the Rothschilds in the Middle East is the exclusive source of Jewish power and influence worldwide

I have no patience left for the subtly pro-Biden, pro-China, pro-CIA wing of the 'dissident right' sphere. For years I couldn't help but feel suspicious of their intentions.. only recently am I confident enough in this judgment to voice publicly. 'Controlled opposition' exists.

Powerful message conveyed with this retweet. War is either already here, or on the immediate horizon - depending on one's definition of the word. <https://t.co/rSHi2Booue>

What we have is an epidemic of the manipulative recategorization of cause-of-death. (3)

extremely deadly pandemic, especially as media personalities are now openly stating that it led to the 'deadliest year in American history'. I'd be willing to bet such data wouldn't even show a blip.. not the slightest increase in total number of deaths, over the past year. (2)

The one broad-level all-encompassing statistic I'd love to see someone with the time and requisite skillsets track down for the U.S. is the number of *total deaths*, from all causes, tracked year to year. Presumably, we should see at least a small increase, due to this (1) <https://t.co/FnIHLjcPbH>

I exaggerate only slightly.. Those with the stomach for it: Stop in at MSNBC, especially Reid or Melber or Sharpton, at any point over the coming days. Their programming seems to have shifted towards creating a racial/cultural scapegoat, to rally a mob to violence against them.

The backup plan, he states with a straight face, was to set the building on fire, and burn everyone inside to death. The line between the rambling crack-addicted homeless and MSNBC on-air talent essentially requires a magnifying glass to spot, at this point
